Dear Parents/carers,

In May, your child will be assessed against the End of Key Stage One standards (SATs). To help you understand this process more, I will be holding an informal Key Stage 1 SATs information session for parents and carers only on Tuesday 11th February at 3pm.

During this meeting, I will explain about the testing and reporting system and I will share with you ways in which you could support your child to achieve their very best.

I envisage the session lasting for approximately 20 minutes and I will be able to answer any questions you might have during the session.

Thank you for your continued support.

Yours faithfully,

Amy Marriott
